SieMatic Cabinetry Brings Customizable Luxury to Houston's New Sophie Condominium Project

An array of styles and finishes in the SieMatic Classic cabinetry line offers high-end buyers a spectrum of choices for modern or transitional kitchens

(Yardley, PA, June 8, 2017) When The Sophie at Bayou Bend breaks ground this summer, its luxury kitchens will be outfitted with the classic elegance of SieMatic cabinets. The timeless, sleek lines of the SieMatic PURE and CLASSIC style collections and range of finish and material options provide a level of sophistication and customization perfectly suited for the high-end condominium building's discerning buyers.

A private estate overlooking Houston's Bayou Bend Gardens, The Sophie was designed by Mirador Group as an enduring piece of architecture, inspired by art, architecture, and fashion throughout history that represents classic contemporary style. An uncommon attention to detail, distinctive features, and exquisite interiors highlight each of the 42 units, which include flexible living spaces and large windows to maximize daylighting and views.

Kitchen & Bath Concepts partner Micqui McGowen, CMKBD, brought these goals to the kitchen through distinctive styling based on SieMatic's PURE collection, a minimalist, elegant furniture design that discreetly integrates architectural features. Finish selections include matte and high-gloss lacquer options in the 11 colors of the SieMatic ColorSystem. Residents have several upgrades to choose from, including an elegant slab door with a thin frame in a matte lacquer finish or a Gold Bronze metal finish with polished frame. SieMatic's CLASSIC collection, which blends seemingly contradictory design elements into a harmonious whole, is also available as an upgrade, and can be further enhanced with polished nickel and glass door fronts and brushed stainless drawers with polished nickel frames.

"The product spectrum that SieMatic was able to offer was a key selling point for us, allowing our buyers to go ultra-modern or classic contemporary. It's a very nice range," said Jacob Sudhoff, CEO of Sudhoff Companies. "We also chose SieMatic for the high quality of the craftsmanship."

SieMatic

SieMatic's CLASSIC style collection is infused with elegance, with elements including glass shelves, nickel doors, and handles in a variety of finishes, as well as handle-free fronts that provide a subdued contemporary edge. Wall-mounted metal and glass shelves lend an extra luster in gold bronze or polished nickel, while an AntiPrint coating on "SQ" matte lacquer or SimiLaque surfaces prevents fingerprints.

"The contemporary sophistication exuded by the CLASSIC collection is an ideal fit for The Sophie's elevated architectural appeal," said Angel Calderon, director of project sales at SieMatic Möbelwerke USA. "At the same time, the array of design enhancements and options ensures buyers get the look they want that is in line with their tastes and unique to their space."
